New Summer 2018 MU Online course: Peace Studies 2291

Information Technology: Facilitation and Constraint for the Creative Mind

Writing Intensive and non-Writing Intensive sections available

Course Overview:

This course will take a multidisciplinary approach to engage students on current debates about the development of various informational technologies. We will examine social, cultural, economic, political, and ethical issues related to technologies such as the internet and social media, robotics and artificial intelligence, autonomous cars, and Bitcoin.

Instructor: Curtis Edwards
Doctoral Candidate
MU Sociology Department
acer34@mail.missouri.edu